

About People and Things

By C. B. McDowell

CENTURY OF MIRACLES

In the year 1855, according to an article in The Merchants Journal, May issue, "Stave" Swift bought a heifer on a borrowed $20 and sold the meat to the housewives of Sagamore, Mass. "Stave" nor his neighbors little realized that this was the beginning of the multi-million-dollar meat packing company that has huge plants all over this nation and that 1955 would be the year they would celebrate their 100th anniversary.

In 1855, Elba had been operating for about two years under its present name. It was then a scattering little settlement of about 275 homes. Prior to "Stave" Swift's adventure into the fresh beef business, that luxury was practically unknown commercially. At that time approximately 85 per cent of the nation's 27 million population lived on farms. Cities were small and pace of living slow. It was the "good old horse and buggy days." Although some important towns had two trains a day, young America was just beginning to benefit by faster transportation.

Main street in typical towns was made up of the grocery, barber, blacksmith, general store and a few others. In a home just off Main Street, a lady looked tired. All she did was beat the rugs, carry gallons of water from the pump, wash a tub full of clothes, put up jars of preserves, cooked three meals, swept, mopped and performed numerous other household duties. She was tired but proud of her day's accomplishments.

Little did people realize what was coming in the next 100 years. An unbelievable procession of developments was soon to march across the American scene. Edison's electric light ushered in the electrical age, automobiles brought freedom, mobility and new desires. Railroads criss-crossed the nation bringing mass transportation. The airplane stimulated further revolutionary changes.

Miracle upon miracle, not just mechanical progress, but also human progress has been made. One hundred years ago average life expectancy was 40 years. Today it is 70 years. In 1855 the stature of the average American was 5' 5". Today it is 5' 7". We are healthier, happier, better fed, better housed, work less, play more and earn more. It's a real miracle.

Other great packing plants have grown to large proportions. "Stave" Swift who, he purchased his 520 heifer in 1855, was the pioneer founder of the meat packing industry in America.

Elba, which celebrated its centennial 100 years ago, has like the meat packing industry come a long way during the past century.

BUILDINGS BY THE ACRE
Henry D. Jones of Dayton Ohio, is spending his vacation with Elba friends. One of the first things he did after his arrival here was visit the private office for a fishing license. He is employed by a large construction company in Dayton. I told him about the 120 X 1000 steel warehouse under construction by Elba Oil and Warehouse Co. He admitted it was a good-sized building but said his company had recently completed a structure that covered 30 acres and has begun to work on another that will cover 10 acres.

Speaking about gigantic buildings, Dayton has some of the largest in the world. It brings to mind the tale Walter Whitman told many years ago after a visit to Dayton.

Mr. Whitman reported about a building that was so huge it could contain six or eight football fields and have room left. He said the building was so vast it had electrical storms in the upper parts of it. His reports have been verified by accredited witnesses.

POWELL CONDITIONING
Roland Powell who starred in football, basketball and track for Elba High the past year was at work Monday morning digging ditches for Richards Constructors, who are installing gas lines in and around Elba.

Powell stated Monday that he is killing two birds with one stone, hardening up his muscles for football next fall and not incidentally earning some money for scholastic pursuits. Powell has received inquiries from several colleges. The University of Georgia has invited him to go there next fall for a viewman. "Thermometers and thermometers," he said, "people are buying them like hotcakes. He has also been contacted by the University of Chattanooga. Itally.

"Uncle Ed" Lee Resigns Courthouse Post

BY C. B. McDOWELL
In the retirement of Edward D. (Uncle Ed) Lee, effective on June 1, as janitor at the Elba courthouse, the county is losing one of its most competent and popular employees.

"UNCLE ED" LEE

"Uncle Ed" assumed his duties as janitor 14 years ago and up until about a year ago when health interfered, performed his duties efficiently. When he became unable to perform his duties full time, he employed Mr. Adkins to help him.

In submitting his resignation to the Board of Commissioners, Mr. Lee stated that the condition of his health made it impossible for him to give the county the service to which it was entitled.

In commenting on Mr. Lee, Mr. Kendrick said Tuesday that "Uncle Ed" was for many years one of the most valuable employees the county had. Mr. Kendrick recalled "Uncle Ed's" astuteness when he came to buying supplies for the county. Mr. Kendrick reported that his fellow county worker was not so popular with traveling salesmen because he insisted on buying supplies at rock bottom prices.

Crippled Children Receive $5400 in Aid

Ten times more was taken for Coffee County crippled children from voluntarily raised funds than was put in, Fred Clark, drive chairman, said this week. Last year only $500 was obtained but $5455.14 was spent in this county.

Number of children treated: 267
Hospital Days: 221
Hospitalization Cost: $2,388.50
X-Rays, Drugs, etc.: $648.06
Appliances: $2,061.63

Speech Therapy: $219.35
(Provided by Alabama Society)
Hospitalization: $1,070.00
(Provided by Alabama Society)
TOTAL: $5,455.14
While all funds raised for this program are matched by state and federal monies, Coffee County has been reaping the benefits of the faithful work of the other counties in Alabama. Mr. Clark pointed out that activities for the crippled children should not be confined with any other drives. Mr. Clark and other crippled defects.

Play Lowery Seeking State 4-H Presidency

One of the candidates for state 4-H Club president this year is Miss Play Lowery, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. B. F. Lowery of Jack.

According to Miss Carolyn Adams, assistant home agent, Play has been one of the county's outstanding 4-Hers for the past several years. She has won county medals in achievement, frozen foods and leadership and was the club winner in the dress revue this year. She has also received project certificates for completion of gardens, 5 years poultry, 3 years home freezing, 2 years home beef, 1 year home beef, 1 year home beef.

For the past year Play has served as county council president and last year served as vice president. In addition to these offices, Play has been the president of the 21st Chapter girls club for three years. Vice president for a year and at present is recreational leader.

Lifelong Resident Of Elba Succumbs

Fontell Ham, life-long resident of Elba, died in Veterans Hospital in Montgomery May 29 following an illness of three weeks. He was 60-years-old. He was a veteran of WW I and saw overseas service. A member of a prominent Coffee County family, he was the son of the late P. J. and Mrs. Jessie A. Roberts.

Surviving are six sisters: Mrs. E. W. Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Ems, Mrs. Lela Carson and Mrs. Ruth Aughton.

Funeral services were held at the family home Monday, May 30, at three P. M. Rev. Duff officiating.

Methodist Church Reports Progress During Fiscal Year

Rev. E. T. Edgar has closed his second year as pastor of the Elba Methodist Church and left Monday for Montgomery where he is attending the Annual Alabama Conference in session at Huntington College this week. It is scheduled to end Friday afternoon when appointments of pastors will be announced.

Rev. Edgar went to the conference with an outstanding record for the year's work. The church had a good growth in membership and is in sound financial condition. Many improvements have been made to the church and parsonage.

Expenditures total $16,395 compared with $12,500 last year. This year's expenditures are the highest in the church's history. Rev. Edgar is expected to return to Elba for another year.

Now Is Time to Put Out Sweet Potato Cuttings

Alabama farmers who don't enlarge their sweet potato acreage with vine cuttings this month may be missing a chance for some extra cash. Sweet potatoes are expected to bring growers some good prices that they have brought for several years. According to A.P.I. Extension Horticulturist John Bagby, one acre of early-set slips will now give enough vine cuttings to set three or four additional acres without hurting the yield.

Vines should be set as early in June as possible as the plants will have time to make a crop before the frost, said Bagby. He suggested that vine cuttings, rather than slips, be used because the cheaper vines usually involve less danger of disease.

Fertilizer Meetings Scheduled for Most Ag Substations

AUBURN, Ala.—Alabama's 1953 Fertilizer Conference will be a series of tours and meetings throughout the state next week. The annual conference for dealers, distributors and manufacturers of fertilizer is to be held June 7-10 at substations and experiment fields of the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station system. This conference is designed to encourage local fertilizer dealers to join the tour of points nearest them, said A.P.I. Extension Agronomist J. C. Lovett in telling plans for the meetings.

Sponsored by the Experiment Station and Extension Service in cooperation with the Alabama Soil Fertility Society, the conference will begin Tuesday with tours of the North Alabama Horticulture Substation at Guilford and the Tennessee Valley Substation at Belle Mina. Other points to be visited are the substation at Winfield, Wednesday; the substation at Camden, and the Monroville Experiment Field Thursday; and the substation at Fairhope on Friday.

Several state specialists will join the conference to show men of the fertilizer industry how fertilizer should be used, and to improve yields on Alabama farms.

Two Tags Will Be Placed on Certified Seed This Summer

A streamlining of Alabama's certified seed program has been effected in the adoption of a new kind of certification tag. Beginning this spring tags appearing on bags of Alabama Certified Seed will be non-analytical tags. That is, the certification labels issued by the Alabama Crop Improvement Station will carry only the name of the crop, variety, certification number, lot and number. They will not, as in the past, show the grower's name and address or seed analysis. A second tag will be required to furnish this information.

MEM'S CLUB Members of the Men's Club of the Elba Methodist Church and invited guests enjoyed a fish fry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Wise Monday night. Members of the club caught the fish used and under the direction of Harold Deal they were prepared.

FISH TAIL MAKES FISH TAIL Melvin Stroud reports that he caught a fish tail at the mouth of the Pea River. He says the fish was about 10 inches long and weighed about 10 pounds. He says he caught it with a hook and line.

Mr. Stroud said he got out of the car to investigate and saw the fish's tail and part of its body sticking out of the water. He saw a stick at the fish and it moved only slightly. When he chucked another stick, a large moccasin came to the surface. It had partly swallowed the fish which explained the trout's peculiar behavior.

Final Tabulation of Costs Shows City Gets Airport for $2440

Final tabulation of expenses for the city airport project showed that it cost Elba $2440 for the flying field. Mayor L. P. Mullins reported to the council Monday night at the city hall. This includes the cost of the land, labor in putting the field into shape and renting of machinery and equipment to do the grading and filling. Actual costs of the project shown on the books is over $2000. However, only $1740.82 for the use of the field until a cash was put out and of this $1600 and turn it back to the city in as good a shape as they found it. The arrangement was all right with the councilmen except they wanted to be sure the city would be responsible for maintenance of the landing strip while they were using it. Dr. C. P. Hayes and Shelby Morrow, appointed last council meeting to check on the need for repairs at the school, reported that the school would be repaired and a regulation in regard to livestock in the city limits.

The street lighting system in the Mulberry Heights section of the city will be replaced, the Mayor told the council. Additional street lights will be put in. Sewerage main extension work probably will reach as far as Clyde Goodson's place, he said. The association stages a dog hunt in the area the first Friday of each month. Glen Watford, Enterprise is president. William Prescott of Elba is vice president and Hansel Byrd the secretary-treasurer. A field trial and bench show is slated for sometime in January by the group.

Roy Bullard Claims Mystery Farm Picture
Roy Bullard claimed the first mystery farm picture of the series last week when he came to identify his place. Since being constructed, the home has been reworked twice, once in 1934 and again in 1953. Mr. Bullard said when the house was built all the surrounding land was in trees. The Curtis community property owner says he would rather row crop than live there. Some improved pasture was left. For conservation of his soil, Mr. Bullard plants clover, blue lupine and dry grass. He feeds some cattle and hogs, at the present time having around 30 head of each. The Curtis community property owner says he would rather row crop than live there. Some improved pasture was left.
